The Daily Press.

HONGKONG, SEPTEMBER 17TH, 1874.

It is satisfactory to note the announcement in the Government Gazette of the appointment of a Commission of Inquiry into the practice and procedure regarding the receipt, custody, management, and disbursement of securities and moneys coming into the hands of all officers attached to the Supreme Court. In appointing this Commission His Excellency has met the expressed wishes of the community, and with the composition of the Commission no fault can be found. Two Government officials of tried ability and energy, and two members of the community (one of them a legal gentleman) who may be depended upon to sift matters to the bottom have been selected. The result of the inquiry, whatever it discloses, cannot fail to be beneficial, as it will be sure to have the effect of causing a new and efficient system of audit to be adopted with regard to the accounts of the Official Assignee. It can be made an easy matter to render such defalcations as those of the late officer in that department an impossibility, and the first step in this direction will naturally be the proper audit of the accounts. It is to be hoped, moreover, that the Commission will be able to fix the responsibility for the loss way in which the business of the Court in this respect has hitherto been conducted on the proper individual. Some one must be responsible for the lack of system which has rendered possible the present scandal, and it can be ascertained who that person is he should not be allowed to escape unproven.

With the minutes of His Excellency the Governor relative to the pension of Police Constable CHAN NAM we entirely concur. It would appear to have been the custom in former cases to commute the pensions of Chinese constables, and adding the gratuity earned by them, to hand over the lump sum to the man. This arrangement no doubt is satisfactory enough to the men and not disadvantageous to the Government in a pecuniary sense. Most Chinese prefer a lump sum down to taking the amount in instalments, because they are then able to invest it at a high rate of interest or to start in some line of business with it—the great ambition of every Chinaman of the lower orders. The Government, on the other hand, by commuting these small pensions saves trouble and often gains in the end, as the pensioner, not unfrequently living long enough to receive double the amount of his pension, is unable to pay it off. The Chinese, however, are entitled to all the British law, as well as in every respect to the authority and jurisdiction of the Judges and Courts of Justice of the said Colony.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS."

SIR.—As the Acting Colonial Chaplain is so anxious to do away with Sunday labour in China, of course he does not know that coolies are no longer employed in ploughing the fields of St. John's Cathedral. The real gentleman might urge that putting ploughs into a "work of necessity and mercy," but it is not necessarily so, as say every one of the congregation who feel too weak to use a fan, which would not, I think, interfere either with their listening to a sermon or meditating upon their "manifold sins and wickedness." Yours, &c.,

JOHN FALCO,
Palace of Justice, 7th June, 1874.

BETWEEN ALICE AND THE KING.

ESTABLISHING RELATIONS WITH A KING.

Nicholas, King of the Belgians, and his royal consort, Queen Fabiola, were received at the Palace of Justice, Hongkong, by Sir John Falco, with a military guard, the British Party, with a military guard without a license.

The regulations said on Saturday morning

when the new work began off for dinner he raw the prisoner walking about the place of Wang.

A little later on he was called to the room to bring him in, and he was then informed that he had been granted a license.

Antonio Pizzolotto, a gunner on board

the British Party, on Saturday last, the prisoner gave me a bottle of liquor. I gave no money for it, but the chief officer's command was that the prisoner not give him a charge.

Mr. Madine was soon informed of the fact, and the chief officer told the bottle and told me to say nothing about it.

The prisoner said he had the bottle from a man in the street, who had four bottles in his possession. He would like to know why he had been in jail and two days.

His Worship convicted the prisoner of retailing

spirit without a license and fined $25;

in default, three months' imprisonment with hard labour.

The same prisoner was charged with frequenting

up Messrs. Meyer & Co.'s wharf, Wanchi

on Saturday, after being repeatedly cautioned to leave.

His Worship said the prisoner had enough punishment in the previous case and discharged him with caution.

THE KING AND THE WINDS.

committed in Foreign Countries, without, however,

therby preventing British subjects from being called to answer before the Courts of Justice

shall there have committed.
